JAPAN AND RUSSIA EXCHANGE NOTES

SOVIET INTERFERENCE IN MANCHURIA

JAPAN'S THREAT

SOVIET SAYS RUMOURS ARE MISCHIEVOUS, NOT HELPING EITHER PARTY.

Moscow, Yesterday.
A grave communication has been made by the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Hirota to Comrade Karakhan, Soviet Assistant Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, concerning the disturbing effect of rumours of Soviet interference in Manchuria, according to the Tass Agency.

It is stated that Mr. Hirota pointed out the various rumours current in Manchuria alleging that the Soviet Government was assisting General Mah with military instructions, ammunition, etc. He also alleges that General Mah, himself, had stated that between twenty thousand and forty thousand Soviet troops were massing near the station of Dauria with a view to entering Manchuria.

Mr. Hirota added that according to the Tass Agency the rumours were "disturbing public opinion in Japan and the military authorities in Manchuria."

Mr. Hirota concluded by saying that should Soviet troops be sent to the Chinese Eastern Railway, Japan would send troops to the Taiman-Tsitsihar Railway, which was built on Japanese money, so that the "sphere of conflict would be broadened."

Soviet Reply.

Comrade Karakhan replying on behalf of the Soviet Government stated, according to the Tass Agency, that the rumours were based on absolutely unfounded inventions emanating from irresponsible persons interested in spreading provocative rumours regarding the situation in Manchuria. There were no Soviet instructors, among the Tsitsihar troops or in any army of any other Manchurian province, nor were arms and ammunition being received, nor had they been received by these troops from Russia. The Soviet Government was not assisting either of the struggling factions in Manchuria.

Japan and China.

Shanghai, Yesterday.
A message from Tokyo states that the Premier and Foreign Minister have informed the Privy Council that the Japanese Government will not withdraw its troops, to the railway zone until the Sino-Japanese differences have been settled by direct negotiation.—Reuter.

TRADE REVIVAL

BRITISH BUSINESS MEN BUSY.

DUMPING PERIL

FISCAL INQUIRY
COMMITTEE.

London, Yesterday.

Following the National Government's victory signs of revival in industry are reported from all over the country. Many British manufacturers are planning re-equipment of factories to cope with new orders, while foreign manufacturers are anticipating the imposition of tariffs for factories and sites here and dumping goods in this country while entry is still free.

It is expected that a Cabinet Committee will be established to examine fiscal and other matters to clear the way for the introduction of legislation soon after Parliament meets, probably late in January, for the real business of the session. Meanwhile, immediate legislation may be introduced conferring on Ministers powers against dumping.—Reuter.

MOTOR TRAFFIC AND OTHER OFFENCES.

(Central Police Court.)
At "Traffic Time" this morning, Mr. W. Schofield imposed a fine of $5, on the Chinese driver of a motor lorry for having allowed a load of poles to project.

Another Chinese driver, for dangerous driving in Jubilee Road, opposite the Dairy Farm, was warned that he must keep to his side of the road when driving, and fined $25.

For carrying passengers in excess of the number authorised two Chinese drivers were fined $3 and $4 each, respectively. Another, who had a clean record, was cautioned.

A fine of $6 was imposed on a Chinese public vehicle driver for loitering in Des Voeux Road Central. For a similar offence, another driver was fined $5.

AN EMERGENCY MEETING.

Nanking, Yesterday.
A meeting of the C.E.C. this morning decided to hold an emergency plenary session of the C.E.C. and of the Central Control Committee on November 9 in place of the National Kuomintang Conference, at which it is probable that all outstanding political issues will be dealt with and settled particularly as the results of the informal Canton-Nanking conferences now being held at Shanghai, will be submitted for consideration.

It is understood that all the Kuomintang leaders at present in Shanghai will proceed to Nanking to attend this plenary session. Chang Hsueh-ling arrived in a Ford plane at 12.40 to-day, and immediately held a conference with Chiang Kai-shek concerning the present political situation.—Reuter.

A HOLIDAY "CRUISE."

An employee of a City shop returned after a week's holiday. His employer asked him how he had enjoyed himself and where he had been. "Just for a P. & O. cruise," was the reply.

The employer was intrigued, knowing full well that such a luxury was far beyond the pocket of his man. So he asked for more information. "Oh, just a cruise round the Parks and Open Spaces," was the reply.

NEWS TABLOIDS.

The new Cabinet will be composed of about 20, instead of 10, members. Mr. Philip Snowden is expected to be one of the number, and his election will be made possible by his elevation to the Peerage.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain is mentioned as booked for the Treasury. Sir John Simon and Lord Hallisham are expected to be in the new Cabinet.

Cabinet forecasts are:—Mr. Baldwin (Lord President of the Council), Mr. J. H. Thomas (Dominions Secretary), Sir Samuel Hoare (India Office), Sir Cunliffe-Lister (Board of Trade), Mr. Snowden (Lord Privy Seal), on his election to the House of Lords.

Lord Reading may lay down the port folio of Foreign Affairs, and Lord Hallisham may replace Lord Sankey as Lord Chancellor.

The Earl of Crewe (War Secretary) and Sir Austen Chamberlain (First Lord of the Admiralty) are said to be anxious to give way to younger men.

Industry at home is reported to be showing definite signs of revival, and factories are being re-equipped to cope with expected orders.

Foreign manufacturers, anticipating the imposition of tariffs, are said to be arranging for factories and sites in Britain and are dumping goods in the country. Legislation against dumping is likely to be instituted soon.

Japan and Soviet Russia have exchanged communications concerning certain rumours of Soviet interference in Manchuria. Japan warned the Soviet that if it sent troops to the Chinese Eastern Railway, Japanese troops would be sent to the Taiman-Tsitsihar Railway.

The Soviet reply denounces the rumours as "mischievous," and declares it is not assisting either party involved in the Manchurian dispute.

The Colonial Secretary has sent a strongly-worded cable to the Governor of Cyprus in connection with the recent disturbances. Full support is promised to the Governor in his efforts to restore order, and the Constitutional future of the island is to be reviewed.

The United States has accepted the League of Nations one-year's armament holiday scheme.

Persia has signed the 1931 Convention relating to the limitation of the manufacture of narcotics.

A junk master to-day was fined $35 for being in possession, without a licence, of a quantity of arms and ammunition. The weapons, which included an executioner's sword of the type used by Chinese, the Magistrate said were fit only for a museum.

KING PERTURBED

REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Rugby, Yesterday.

A telegram received from the Governor of Cyprus this morning reports that the situation in the towns continues slowly to improve.

A telegram has been sent by the Colonial Secretary to the Governor expressing satisfaction of the improvement and adding: "It is a matter of grave concern that in any circumstances whatsoever the King's Representative in a British Colony should have been exposed to insult and personal danger from those who are subjects of His Majesty. The King has been much perturbed to learn that while His Majesty's Representative was in residence an attack was actually made on Government House at Nicosia and that some of the leaders of the attack should have been persons who had recently taken the oath of allegiance. You have already taken action against the ringleaders. You have my full support in any necessary action to put down sedition or to make it clear that neither now nor in the future will disorder be tolerated.

It is obvious that the liberties given under the present Constitution have been abused by disloyal political leaders. Accordingly, in the general interests of the people of Cyprus, Government will have to review, in consultation with you, the constitutional future of the island."—British Wireless Service.

ANOTHER KOWLOON BLAZE.

A fire, causing damage to the extent of about $1,000 occurred at No. 167, Apia Street, Shamshupo, early this morning.

The ground floor on which the fire started is occupied by So To who uses the premises as a tea shop and stationer's shop, while the upper floors are used as dwelling houses.

The cause of the fire is supposed to have been a lighted taper igniting some paper.

Three female inmates were burned about the face and hands, but were not detained in hospital.

The ground floor was completely burned out but owing to the building being a modern concrete structure the conflagration did not spread. Three fire appliances attended, but only one was required.

RAT MATCH FOR RATTLES.

Rattle-snakes and mice don't mix—it's too hard on the snakes.
Mr. Gates, a snake fancier, of Nashville, Indiana, who has a five-foot "rattler" in a cage at his store, put a mouse inside for the reptile to eat. But to his astonishment, the mouse began rattling the button, and rattles off the snake.
To save the poor snake, he removed the savage mouse.

PREMIER CABINET MAKING

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN FOR THE TREASURY?

PEERAGE FOR PHILIP?

LABOUR INTERESTS TO BE FULLY PROTECTED.

London, Yesterday.

Cabinet Ministers assembled at No. 10, Downing Street this afternoon for the first meeting after polling. All evidently were in the best of spirits, happy smiles contrasting with the anxious looks which showed when the National Government was first appointed.

Sir Herbert Samuel, straight from Darwin, had a talk with the Premier which lasted half an hour before meeting.

One of the Government's first tasks is expected to be Cabinet reconstruction. The Cabinet will be increased to about twenty, as ten were found to be insufficient.

It is expected Mr. Philip Snowden will be a Cabinet Minister with a Peerage.

Cabinet Forecasts.

London, Yesterday.
With regard to the re-shuffling of the Cabinet, newspapers forecast that Mr. Baldwin will remain Lord President of the Council, Mr. J. H. Thomas Secretary for the Dominions, Sir Samuel Hoare at the India Office, and Sir Cunliffe-Lister at the Board of Trade. It is understood that Mr. Snowden will become a Peer and Lord Privy Seal, so retaining his place in the Cabinet.

Possible changes are said to include the Foreign Secretaryship at present held by Lord Reading. Lord Hallisham may succeed Lord Sankey as Lord Chancellor. The Earl of Crewe, War, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, First Lord of the Admiralty, it is said, are likely to retire to make way for younger men.—Reuter.

Rugby, Yesterday.

After seeing the King this morning the Prime Minister consulted with several of his colleagues in the National Government and in the afternoon presided over a meeting of the Cabinet. It is anticipated that the Cabinet will be enlarged and that Conservatives will be given a larger proportion of Ministerial posts than at present.

The most important appointment to be made is the successor to Mr. Philip Snowden as Chancellor of the Exchequer, a position he must relinquish on retiring from the House of Commons. It is generally assumed that Mr. Snowden will go to the House of Lords and, therefore, it is possible that he will remain a member of the Government in another capacity. The name of Mr. Neville Chamberlain is mentioned as the probable successor at the Treasury.

Sir John Simon, who gave a strong lead to Liberals in support of the National Government, and Lord Hallisham, former Conservative Lord Chancellor, are expected to join the Cabinet among others.

Congratulations.

The Prime Minister has received messages of congratulation from all over the country and from all classes. Telegrams also poured in from all parts of the world, particularly the United States.

Scottish Peers Meet.
The result in Inverness and Western Isles Division was declared to-day. A National Liberal was elected, bringing Government's majority in the new House of Commons up to 501.

At Holyrood Palace, Edinburgh, Scottish Peers met and selected 16 representative Peers to sit in the House of Lords.—British Wireless Service.

London, Yesterday.

H.M. the King gave an audience to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald for half an hour this morning. On his return from Buckingham Palace, Mr. MacDonald saw Lord Sankey and Sir William Towitt, and will see Messrs. Snowden, Thomas and Baldwin, and Sir Herbert Samuel later.

It is learned that Mr. MacDonald is determined that national interests, including Labour, shall be adequately represented in the Cabinet.—Reuter.

World Gaping at Results.

London, Yesterday.
The Dominions and the outside world are still gasping at the sweeping nature of the Government's victory.

A Melbourne message reports that the Argus comments:—"Never in Britain's history have the electors given a finer demonstration of hope, courage and determination."

A Clear Mandate.

Cambridge, Yesterday.

The Premier, Mr. Scullin, said that, undoubtedly the National Government had received a mandate to deal with the nation's difficulties, but there is nothing it can do which the previous Government could not have done if the Labour Party had given it united support. "Economy measures, like surgical operations, are in critical times most necessary."—Reuter.

Canada and Economic Conference.

Ottawa, Yesterday.

The Premier, Mr. Bennett, declares that the Canadian Government will propose to the various Governments of the Empire that the adjourned meeting of the Imperial Economic Conference, which was tentatively fixed for some time next year, should meet at "the earliest possible date."—Reuter's American Service.

Hiding for Labour.

Rugby, Yesterday.
The Labour Journal, the Daily Herald, says that Labour has had the Duke of Wellington called a "damned good hiding," and if it is to turn the present defeat into a future victory, it has to learn its lessons, and begin at once to rescue this disaster. When its next chance comes, Labour must be out not merely to win power, but to form a body for the task that follows.

The Herald also points out that although the party has under sixty seats, it polled 6,000,000 votes, and says it is not good that such a large body of opinion should be so under-represented in Parliament.

Exaggeration at T.U.C. Domination.

The News Chronicle says the people were exasperated at the spectacle of the Labour Party being driven at the dictation of the T.U.C. Union Council to advocate measures many of them knew to be impracticable.

Sir Herbert Samuel attributes it to a revolt, against the domination of the trade unions, but says the Guardian, Labour has probably reaped the harvest of two years of ineffectual government.

Patriotic Vote.

The Daily Mail describes the election as a great patriotic vote

England in 1801.

A SPEECH BY FOX ON THE DEPRESSION.

One hundred and thirty years ago Fox made a speech in the House of Commons on the great depression then prevailing in Britain. There are some curious similarities in it to the present situation. Fox said:

Alas, sir, there is not a gentleman in this House would rejoice more than I that the income tax was to be set down for nothing; and I cannot help admiring that frontless insensibility under which the hon. gentleman passes over a grinding impost that has ripped open the private concerns and reduced the necessary comforts of every man in England. The extinction of debt from the sale of the land taxes carries its own evil in its tail; and we might as well rejoice at our prosperity from that measure as a private man would from paying his debts by bringing his private estate to the hammer. The debts in so far may be paid, but the estate is gone for ever.

In reality what is the state of the country upon this point? From such a population as that of Great Britain near forty million sterling are annually wrung; to this add ten million more for the poor rates, making together about fifty millions. The hon. gentleman has estimated the landed rental of England at about twenty-five millions. Thus, then, we pay yearly double the produce of the whole rental of the country in rates and taxes; a sum approaching very nearly the whole income of the country, taking the income tax as the barometer of its amount. Was any nation ever before in such circumstances? Will the hon. gentleman tell us of any people that were (not merely in degree but in kind or principle) in such a state since the beginning of the world?

As to the Sinking Fund, led it always be remembered that its effects, highly beneficial as they are, must depend on the revenue keeping its level. If the revenue falls, the charm of the Sinking Fund vanishes to nothing.

This, sir, is the true picture of our financial condition as a State, and the condition of the people is strictly answerable to it. One-sixth of all the souls in England is supported by charity; and the plight of a great part of those who contribute to their maintenance is but little better than that of the paupers whom they succour. Ask any of the members of Lancashire or Yorkshire what the state is of the manufacture of those counties; none will venture to deny the starving, distracted condition of those great and populous districts. From the hon. gentleman may receive an emphatic and decisive contradiction to his distempered and pernicious fancies.

"DISRAELI"

Disraeli George Arliss
Lady Clarissa Joan Bennett
Lady Beaconsfield Florence Arliss
Sir Michael Probert David Torrence

Mrs. Travers Doris Lloyd
Lord Deeford Anthony Bushell
Hugh Meyers Ivan Simpson
Queen Victoria Margaret Mann
Duke of Glastonbury Henry Carvill
Duchess of Glastonbury Gwendolen Logan
Count Boarinov Michael Visaroff
Foljambe Norman Cannon
Potter Charles E. Evans

By their presentation of the all-talking production "Disraeli," Warner Brothers have done a great piece of work, from every point of view. The film is now playing at the Queen's Theatre, and all lovers of first-class pictures should not miss the opportunity of seeing the life of Lord Beaconsfield revived,
as it were.

The role of Disraeli, the wonderful statesman who through his unanny wit and quick thinking powers secured for Britain, the Suez Canal, is admirably taken by Mr. George Arliss.

To Mrs. Florence Arliss, is accredited the role of Lady Beaconsfield. Her acting is sincere, natural and splendid.

Joan Bennett is charming as Clarissa, and together with Anthony Bushell gives the production its full measure of romance.
But romance in those "good old days" was simply romance, and no
"whoppers" or "necking".

Doris Lloyd enacts the role of a spy for the Russian Embassy in London. She has a hard part which she portrays with credit.

In producing "Disraeli," Warner Brothers have paid great attention to detail, and have lost none of the dignity that is so typical of British aristocracy.

"THE FLORODORA GIRL."

This delightful comedy romance of the gay '90s now commencing its second run at the Star Theatre, is proving a great drawing card, once again proving the popularity of that charming comedienne, Marion Davies, who is supported by Lawrence Gray and a long cast of film favorites.

The doings of the famous Florodora Sextette and the dashing lads of Fifth Avenue make a very humorous theme, and, mingled with a touch of sentiment, provide delightful entertainment. There is a coloured sequence before the final curtain, and, incidentally, this is probably the funniest part of the picture.

A Laurel and Hardy Comedy, entitled "Below Zero," is a riot, and is possibly one of the best efforts of this inimitable pair.

Paul Spitalny and his orchestra
play a couple of numbers in a musical item, recalling several well known musical comedies of recent years.

From Other Sources.

"WOMEN OF ALL NATIONS."

El Brendel, stage and screen comedian, has never smoked, not even cigarettes, but he is seen smoking a big black cigar in Raoul Walsh's "Women Of All Nations"
which is now showing at King's Theatre.

The smoking part of it in the Raoul Walsh Fox production may appear perfectly natural from the screen and evidence Brendel as a veteran nicotine addict, but that is far from so.

"Women Of All Nations," which is claimed to be even funnier than
"The Cock Eyed World," beautiful Greta Nissen will be seen in the leading feminine role. For the first time since "What Price Glory,"
and "The Cock Eyed World," McLaglen and Love will discard the khaki uniforms for the full dress uniforms of the Marines, the olive drab and the tropical uniforms.

"MEXICALI ROSE"

Sam Hardy, starred in "Mexicali Rose," the Columbia all-talking drama of love and revenge in Old Mexico now playing at the Central Theatre, recently played a series of underworld "heavies" which threatened to put him in the "bad man" class permanently.

All of these required mannerisms
and tricks of speech foreign to Hardy's personality, yet he played
them in the same sincere convincing manner that won him fame as a leading man.

The cast supporting Hardy in
"Mexicali Rose" is of uniform excellence. It includes Barbara Stanwyck, William Janney and Arthur Rankin. Erle C. Kenton
directed.

"THE MELODY MAN."

William Collier, jun., who plays
one of the featured roles in "The Melody Man," the Columbia all-talking musical drama now showing at the Central Theatre, comes of an illustrious theatrical family and followed in his parents' footsteps
when he chose an histrionic career.

His father, William Collier, is a distinguished actor and writer
and his mother was famous on the legitimate stage under the name of Paula Marr.

"THE CONQUERING HORDE."

An era of United States history
which was filled with an abundant of picturesque and exciting incidents will be portrayed by
"The Conquering Horde," Richard Arlen's latest starring picture, at the King's Theatre on Saturday.

"The Conquering Horde" is a story of Texas and her early
"land-poor" pioneers.

Richard Arlen plays the role of Dan McMasters, the Government
secret service agent who tracks
down the guilty leader of the
"carpet-beggars" and brings him
to justice.

Fay Wray is the pretty and high-minded owner of one of the finest ranches in the pan-handle
of Texas.

"SONG OF THE WEST."

A tent city one-fourth as large as the nearest town was erected by Warner Bros. during the filming, on location, of "Song of the West," the all-colour, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone picture,
coming on Sunday next to the Queen's Theatre.

A complete movie set, the village of "Red Dog," was erected for the filming of the 1849 sequences
of this amazing picture.

"DADDY LONG LEGS."

"Daddy Long Legs" which is coming to the King's Theatre, is a film which should have a very wide appeal. It has the natural merit that the part of Judy Abbott could have been specially written for Janet Gaynor. She gives an altogether delightful performance
as the little orphan girl; and Warner Baxter makes the most of the title role. Not a great deal
behind the acting of the principals
is that of some of the children in the opening scenes—A very human story.

At King's Park yesterday the In-cognitos defeated the Y.M.C.A. second hockey eleven by four goals to nil. The "Y" played ten men throughout and were consequently forced to play the one back game.

W. Stoker, who played at full back, gave a very good display and was largely responsible for keeping down the scoring. E. E. D. Reed opened the scoring in the first half and added two more goals in the second half while R. C. Reed netted the fourth goal.

The Mamak Hockey Shield match between the St. Andrew's Club and the Royal Corps of Signals, which was to have been played on the U.S.R.C. ground to-day, has been postponed on account of the military side being unable to field a team.

The following arrangements have been made for the final Open Lawn Bowls Singles Championship and the final of the Spey Royal Cup Competition:

Saturday, October 31—Open Singles Final: U. M. Omar (Craigengower) v. J. Laing (Talkoo) on the Kowloon C.C. green at 3 p.m.

Saturday, November 7—Spey Royal Cup Final: Craigengower v. Kowloon Dock R. C. on the Kowloon C.C. green at 3 p.m. The following are the probable teams:

The following officials were elected for the ensuing year at the annual general meeting of the Police Recreation Club which was held in the Club Pavilion yesterday evening under the chairmanship of the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe:

Chairman of Committee, Mr. F. E. Baker; Hon. Secretary, Mr. A. E. Carey; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. C. Mottram; Hon. Auditor, Mr. Dormer; Bowls Representative, Mr. A. N. Reynolds; Tennis Representative, Mr. K. W. Andrew; Cricket Representative, Mr. B. G. Baker; Football Representative, Mr. F. Nolan; Boxing Representative, Mr. A. N. Reynolds; Groundsman, Mr. W. Glendinning.

Committee Members.—Messrs. E. J. Ellis, S. G. Carruthers, Williams, Wagland, R. S. Baker, Brand, S. G. Smith, A. R. Brittain and Delahunty. House Sub-Committee.—Messrs. S. G. Smith, Williams and K. W. Andrew.

It is interesting to note that S. M. Atkinson R. E. and S. M. Paul R.E., the winners of the singles and the doubles titles in the Army Tennis Championships held at Sookunpoo recently, were using the Primoris racket supplied by the manufacturers, Mamak & Co.

Their rackets were also strung with Mamak's super-service tropical gut (black) which has been highly praised by all tennis players who use it.

The Royal Corps of Signals' tennis team, winners of the Kowloon Division, were all playing with rackets supplied by Mamak & Co. Lt. Gough, who was using two rackets during the tournament, played with a Queen's Tournament and an International; Sig. Williams and Sig. Patience used the Wasp rackets; Sig. Gillett used a Queen's; Sig. Morris played with a Varsity racket; and Sig. Higgins made use of the Golden Shaft racket. These rackets were all strung with Mamak & Co.'s super-service tropical gut.

ROYAL GOLFERS

A Famous Title Maintained.

By HARRY VARDON

It is so much in the nature of a commonplace to see and hear golf described as "the royal and ancient game" that the people of to-day are apt to attach very little significance to the phrase. They have come to regard it as a kind of honorary title handed down from a glorious and misty ancestry. Nevertheless, I venture to declare that it is as applicable now as at any time in the long history of the pastime.

There can be no blinking the fact that golf stands pre-eminent as the outdoor recreation of kings and princes, just as it did centuries ago. Considering that these august personages are rare in the world, the number who play golf is rather remarkable. King George, I fear, has forgotten all about his set of clubs. But he certainly used to be a golfer, and that in the days of the gutta-percha ball, which made the game a virile pursuit of hard hitting. He was in the Navy when he played golf, and he spent a day on shore whenever he could with other officers of his ship in pursuit of the game. It is unique in the history of any pastime that his four sons all keen golfers.

The Duke of York is, I understand, the best. Whenever he has had to undergo a golfing ordeal in public, he has risen astonishingly well to the occasion. He drove himself into the captaincy of the Royal and Ancient Club at St. Andrews last year; and when he was less practised, he struck the shot which opened the second public course at Richmond Park.

At each attempt he hit a clean, straight drive of over 200 yards. That wants doing with a large crowd looking on in grim expectancy—much of the expectancy born of the dread thought, which the performer must feel more than anybody else, that perhaps the effort will result in a terrible fizzle.

There is no other opening ceremony quite equal to this. It must be the nearest approach that polite modern civilisation can provide to an appearance at the Tower of London centuries ago as an individual who, even in that case, just as in this, had to keep his head still in order to avoid making a mess of it. The Duke of York is, I think, a 6-handicap player, and he would be appreciably better if he had greater opportunity for practice. He has the born swing and body-poles for the game.

An Example in Trying.

The Prince of Wales has reduced his handicap, I believe, to 9, and, for sheer enthusiasm, he is a model to the legions who, always wanting to improve, never take very great pains to do it.

Students of royal styles consider that he has not the same natural swing as the Duke of York, but by sheer diligence he may prove to be the more effective player in the end. He has confessed that he finds it very boring to practise putting. Nearly all British golfers do, no matter what their standing in the game.

The Prince practises other shots with a diligence which only the most Spartan of teachers would dare to recommend to anybody. An hour of it, or even two hours of it, is a commonplace to him.

It is indicative of his progress that he has been round the old course at Sunningdale in 80 strokes. That may be better than his normal form; but he sometimes rises a good deal above the normal, writes Harry Vardon in The Sports Dispatch.

A match worth a king's ransom to see would be one between the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of the Belgians.

I am told that the Belgian Prince is just as keen as our own. One of his friends declared that the staff of the palace at Brussels lived in trepidation of his enthusiasm, for he insisted on practising the art of driving over the roof of the palace—which he could usually do—and they feared that a ball might hurtle through the window occupied by King Albert. One did go through another window.

There is a private course in the palace grounds, and the Queen has long been a regular player. The Prince drives his car to courses in various parts of Belgium, taking the professional from the Brussels Club with him. These two are the only members of such expeditions. I gather that he is rated as a 6-handicap player.

Regal Restraint.

The late King of Spain took up the game many years ago, and poignant evidence that he had not forsaken it when he left his country was afforded by a friend who visited Santander, the great yachting resort in Spain, where a new golf course has lately been inaugurated.

In the club-house an apartment had been reserved for the exclusive use of royalty. The course is close to one of King Alfonso's former residences, and he has played on it several times.

He had his early lessons as a golfer in the Isle of Wight, and was noted for two qualities—his great good humour in even the most exasperating of circumstances, and the fact that nobody could induce him to hold the club other than left-handed, a method which nearly all instructors discourage, because it is considered that even natural left-

In playing long putts more freedom is required, and to obtain this the stance should be widened. That is to say, the feet ought to be moved a little farther apart. The extra length required should not be obtained by harder hitting alone. The swing of the club must be increased.—Charles A. Whitcombe.

It is a very useful tip to carry your racket with the splice on the left hand—that is almost right for a backhand stroke. This will not interfere with the swing across should the ball come on to the forehand, and it lends a certain steadiness on to the backhand.—Betty Nuthall.

The outside half and centre three-quarters must always run holding the ball in both hands and holding it far out and away from the body—never must they put it under the arm, because it would be impossible to pass it from there.—I. M. B. Stuart.

handlers advance the more rapidly at golf if they persevere at the beginning with the process of standing "the right way round." The most heated exclamation that King Alfonso was heard to utter when he missed a shot badly was "Hi! hi!"

The Crown Prince of Japan is another ardent golfer.

He has played in a good many parts of the world, and his example doubtless accounts for the strides which the game is making among the Japanese. The King of Siam is not only a zealous player; he has so good a private course that it is used as one of the three greens on which the open championship of his country is decided. So that golf has lost none of its claim to be regarded as the royal as well as ancient game.

I have often noticed, when I have seen amateur matches, the tremendous amount of shouting that takes place during the course of the game. To my mind, this proves a lack of understanding and illustrates weakness.—Alec James.

Moscow Staggered!

Falling into insignificance beside the ponderous declamations of the respective Party leaders on the result of the General Election is the cablegram from Riga stating:—

The results have staggered Moscow. The landslide toward Conservatism has caused anxiety as regards British and Soviet relations. The British mentality is inscrutable is the official Soviet verdict and reports from agitators in Britain are not reliable.

This outburst is the most cheering item on a whole page of General Election news. We know from the cablegrams of the last couple of days that the Communist candidates have failed ignominiously, one of them achieving the unparalleled record in British Parliamentary election history of not securing one solitary vote. The fact may well be moaned that the reports of Soviet agitators in Britain are unreliable! That in itself is a self-convicting admission of the gravest character. What a confession of the wanton and wilful breach of the original British-Soviet Trade Pact that Russia would not engage in anti-British propaganda outside her own borders! What a commentary on the British Cabinet that permitted Soviet trade agencies to re-open in Britain—not alone to foster legitimate trade, but, as the Arcos raid disclosed, to foster agitation against law and order, to honeycomb British Trade Unions with Communist officials, to suborn the minds of the British working classes in favour, ultimately, of a replica of the Soviet Republic in the United Kingdom. The Soviet's paid agitators have failed: they are disgraced even in the eyes of Moscow; their reports are now termed "unreliable." That is undeniable evidence of the systemised propaganda carried on throughout the length and breadth of Great Britain. Of course, we all knew of its existence long ago in varying forms, but it is decidedly piquant to learn that Moscow is "staggered" by the result of the General Election and accuses its own agitators of gross exaggeration in their reports to Moscow bearing on the question of Communist prospects at the polls.

During the time when the notorious Saklatvala represented North Battersea in the House of Commons, occasion was taken more than once to regret a system of electoral nomination and election that permitted a Communist to woo a constituency in Great Britain. The devilish objective of the Soviet there and in other parts of the British Empire has been so well known as to force us to ask more than once why the law at Home should not be amended so as to bar any Communist from standing for Parliament. Britain must show an example to her Dominions and Colonies where Communists are treated as they deserve to be—trial, conviction, and jail, followed in the case of aliens by deportation. Why should there be one law for Communists at Home and another overseas? It is an absolute absurdity that any Communist should have a say in framing British legislation!

History in Beads.

The by-ways of archaeology afford extraordinary scope for the specialist, though ordinary people may never hear of his work.

One of the chief contributors to the exhibition of Ancient Egyptian Jewellery at the Wellcome Museum, for instance, is Mr. H. C. Beck, acknowledged as the greatest living authority on beads.

The study of beads has been his life-work, and he is no less learned on Indian and Anglo-Saxon beads than on Egyptian. At his home at Fittleworth, Sussex, Mr. Beck has an astonishing collection of these ornaments, ranging over the whole history of civilisation.

Another specialist is the Rev. G. D. Nash, of Margate, who, with Mrs. Nash, has made an exhaustive study of Egyptian scarabs, many of which he has lent to this exhibition. —Peterborough in the Daily Telegraph.

Remedy for Under-Consumption.
The world economic crisis has given rise to some novel suggestions as to the best means of improving things. Perhaps the most striking of these is the proposal made in

"L'Amite française" that a universal lottery of £800,000,000 should be launched.

M. Paul Landowski, the author of the suggestion, is confident that all the countries of the world would contribute to a fund to increase world demand for commodities which are at present being overstocked. It is pointed out by a group of young economists here that the world really does not have too much of such things as wheat, rubber, sugar, cotton, and coffee. According to them, the trouble is not over-production, but under consumption. The funds raised by the lottery could, it is suggested, be applied to the development of countries whose inhabitants have not at present the purchasing power they ought to have. The effect on trade would probably be electrical.—Daily Telegraph.

Penang Seethes with Indignation.

Penang is seething with indignation. A writer in a K. L. contemporary has had the effrontery to assert that this town in the old days stood for snobbery, snooker and snipe-shooting. To-day poverty and push-bikes are in evidence and the height of luxury is spelt p-i-n-e-a-p-p-l-e. The only way we can effectually erase the slur, is to open our columns to a subscription to finance an expedition to penetrate the wilds of Selangor to investigate the truth or otherwise of the rumour that animate life exists at Kuala Lumpur.—A. H. L. in the Pinang Gazette.

News in Brief.

The erection of a theatre in Cheung Chau is nearing completion.

The lowest open air temperature yesterday was 63 degrees. The humidity was 97 at 10 a.m. and 46 at 4 p.m.

Ivan Teofilievich Novachinsky, a Pole, and Abdul Hodan, a Persian, who are charged with the theft of a gold ring from a pawnshop, have been remanded again for a week.

A baptismal service in connection with the Peniel Mission is to be held on Sunday at Cheung Chau, where successful work has been carried on among the boat population.

Although the number of visitors on Cheung Chau is small, religious services have been held each Sunday, conducted by Drs. S. Cliff and Seldon. The latter left for Canton yesterday.

Whilst asleep in his stall in Shing On Street, Wong Tung (26) a foki, had some corrosive acid thrown on his face and neck in the early hours of this morning. The alleged assailant has been arrested. The injured man is now in the Government Civil Hospital in a serious condition.

We have received a copy of the first issue of Lampadee-Dromos (Torchbearer), the organ of the University Christian Association. The Editors are Miss B. M. Pope and Mr. K. C. Lam, with Mr. P. N. Teng as business manager. No charge is made for the magazine, which is expected to make its appearance twice during the present term.

Chung Sing-yan, managing partner of the San Hop Sugar Company, of 2 Western Street, has notified the Police of the disappearance of an assistant accountant with, it is alleged, $3,108.53, belonging to the firm. Of this sum it is stated that $2,091.53 was received by him between October 18 and 21. The remainder, $1,017, is believed to have been taken from the company's safe.

The two Chinese seamen who were yesterday charged at the Kowloon Magistracy with the theft of a quantity of coal from the Government launch C.P.O. 11, were sentenced this morning, the first being sent to jail for one month with hard labour, and the second for three months. The third man who was charged with receiving was bound over in a sum of $100 to come up for judgment within twelve months.

Three Chinese women were this morning charged before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy with having unlawful possession of 3,320 taels of non-Government prepared opium on a sampan at Blake Pier. His Worship discharged the second and third accused, who are fokis. In sentencing Tan Yung, His Worship said that there was no possibility of her raising a fine of $380,000, and imposed a year's hard labour.

An instructive talk, in which much valuable information was imparted, was given by Mr. E. A. von Kobza-Nagy, Hungarian artist and art photographer, to members of the University Amateur Photographic Club in the Union Hall of the University yesterday afternoon.

The case in which nine men and a woman are charged with the larceny of a quantity of coal from the Blue Funnel Lighter Sciron, lying at the Causeway Bay typhoon shelter, on the night of October 20-21, was continued before Mr. Fraser yesterday afternoon, and after a statement by counsel for the prosecution, adjourned.

Mok Shu-tszu, a Government Interpreter in the Employment of the Sanitary Board Office, who is charged with obtaining $70 from a pawnbroker of No. 3, Morrison Street by falsely representing that this was "squeeze" demanded by a Sanitary Inspector in respect of an unauthorized kitchen discovered on the premises was resumed before Mr. E. H. Williams yesterday afternoon. After cross-examination of the pawnbroker, the hearing was adjourned until Monday afternoon.

SQUEAKS AND RATTLES.

Few things annoy one so much as a rattle or a squeak; very often a particularly elusive rattle may be cured by a little attention given to the doors. It will usually be found that the doors are fitted with rubber buffers and that by continual use these have become flattened. It is not always necessary to renew them, for by fitting a small piece of paper or tin behind the rubber the trouble can sometimes be cured. At the same time attention should be given to the door locks, for if a few drops of oil are used occasionally at these points squeaks will disappear as if by magic.

Unless tools are packed well with rag or in special containers, they will cause a tremendous amount of rattling. It should also be remembered that if tools are used on the road they should be packed away carefully again.

Loose floorboards are another common source of rattle; it is a very good plan to tack a strip of felt or rubber to the edges so that in the event of their rubbing against one another they will not give rise to squeaks. If felt is not available, try lightly greasing the edges of the boards.

By placing a piece of felt cut to the correct size under the floor mats a feeling of comfort is given to the feet, and engine vibration will be prevented from reaching the passengers. This has the extra advantage of keeping the feet warm in winter and cool in summer.

ANOTHER SCRAPPING SCHEME.

Speaking at the shipping exhibition Mr. A. C. Hardy, dealing with "Marine Engineering as a Marketing Problem," suggested that to ease the glut of shipping, old tonnage must be scrapped and that "probably one of the most effective solutions to the scrapping problem would be for underwriters to raise the premiums on ships of, say, ten years' old, that it would no longer be profitable for their owners to run them."

Quite apart from the fact that since shipowners are their best friends, underwriters would be loth to penalise them in this manner, the scheme would be quite impracticable. Marine insurance rates are already as low as is compatible with the slightest margin of profit because keen competition keeps them at a minimum. Any attempt to increase rates by artificial means would only lay the way open to those who would utilise a scheme of this nature to their own advantage.

Were the English insurance market solid in supporting a scheme of this nature, foreign underwriters would quickly seize the opportunity, and would supply insurance on economic terms, thus not only frustrating the scheme, but at the same time, depriving English underwriters of business.

The election's last trick is to hide itself in a nebula of probability waves trimmed with quanta in front and with defraction patterns behind.—Professor S. Alexander.

CORRESPONDENCE.

LIBERALISM.

[To the Editor of "China Mail"]

Sir,—I shall be most thankful if you will insert this pen-up of my views why Liberalism should take the place in the Government Economic welfare. The under-mentioned outlines will, I think, substantiate my views.

Liberalism has its own history and its own tradition. Socialism has its own formulas and its own aims. Socialism seeks to pull down wealth; Liberalism seeks to raise up poverty. Socialism would destroy private interests. Liberalism would preserve private interests in the only way in which they can be safely and firmly preserved, namely by reconciling them with public right. Socialism would kill enterprise; Liberalism would rescue enterprise from the trammels of privilege and preference. Socialism assails the pre-eminence of the individual; Liberalism seeks, and shall seek more in the future, to build up a minimum standard for the mass. Socialism exalts the rule; Liberalism attacks monopoly.

These, then, are the great distinctions which I draw, and which, I believe, you will think I am right in drawing at this election between our philosophies and our ideals. Don't think that Liberalism is a faith that is played out, that it is a philosophy to which there is no expanding future. As long as the world rolls round, Liberalism will have its part to play—a grand, beneficent, and ameliorating part to play—in relation to men and the State.

Thanking you for your valuable space and enclosing my card,

Yours etc.,

BANNERMAN.

PRINCE MICHAEL.

Success In Examination.

Bucharest, September 6. Prince Michael of Roumania has just passed the third primary school examination at the age of nine.

Unabashed by the presence of his father, King Carol, the Premier, a board of three professors, the Mayor of Sibiu, and the King's adjutant, he answered all his questions smartly and intelligently, emerging with the percentage of 98.70 marks.—Reuter.

SIMLA ARMOURY RAID.

An attempt to raid the armoury of the Simla Volunteer Rifles was made by three men recently. They smashed a large lock before they were detected by the caretaker, whereupon they fled.

This is the third attempt to raid the armoury.—British United Press.

To-day's Thought.

If all of us were as broad in our sympathies as we are narrow in our criticisms, this would be a better old world.

Ten Years Ago.

[From the "China Mail" of October 30, 1921.]

To-day's dollar is worth 2 2/3%.

Three people were injured, one seriously, in a motor accident which occurred near the junction of the new Cape d'Aguilar motor road with the Shauiwan-Stanley Road yesterday afternoon.

Three American sailors from the U.S.S. flagship Huron hired a motor car from the Wanchai Garage, and while descending the first incline after leaving Shauiwan tram terminus, the car, for some reason still unknown, swerved to the right, and climbing over a low bank at the side of the road, fell a distance of ten feet into a ditch, and toppled over.

Two of the Americans were taken to the French Hospital, one in a serious condition suffering from spinal injuries, and the third American escaped unhurt. The driver was removed to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from shock. The wheels and body of the car are damaged beyond repair.

A HUNDRED YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS

"Scientific World Picture of To-day."

BY GENERAL SMUTS.

His Presidential Address to the British Association.

From the point of view of physics, life and mind are thus singular and exceptional phenomena, not in line with the movement of the universe as a whole. Recent astronomical theory has come to strengthen this view of life as an exceptional feature off the main track of the universe. For the origin of our planetary system is attributed to an unusual accident, and planets such as ours with a favourable environment for life are taken to be rare in the universe. Perhaps we may even say that at the present epoch, there is no other globe where life is at the level manifested on the earth. Our origin is thus accidental, our position is exceptional, and our fate is sealed, with the inevitable running down of the solar system. Life and mind, instead of being the natural flowering of the universe, are thus reduced to a very casual and inferior status in the cosmic order. A new meaning and a far deeper poignancy are given to Shakespeare's immortal line:

"We are such stuff
As dreams are made of; and our little life

Is rounded with a sleep." According to astronomy, life is indeed a lonely and pathetic thing in this physical universe—a transient and embarrassed phantom in an alien, if not hostile, universe.

Depressing Conclusions. Such are some of the depressing conclusions from recent astronomical theory. But in some respects they have already been discounted in the foregoing. For even if life be merely a terrestrial phenomenon, it is by no means in an alien environment, if, as we have reason to think, this is an essentially organic universe. In its organic aspects the universe is on the way to life and mind, even if the goal has been actually reached at only one insignificant point in the universe. The potencies of the universe are fundamentally of the same order as its actualities. The universe might say in the words of Rabbi Ben Ezra:

"All I could never be
All man ignored in me
This I was worth to God."

Then again, it is possible that the physical configurations of the universe are permeated with other forms of life and of spirit, of which we have no experience or conception; forms of life which are not, like ours, of the hydro-carbon type, but are matched to the physical conditions which exist in other parts of the universe. In any case, the very possibility of science depends on an intimate relation between the mind and the physical universe. Only thus can the concepts of mind come to be a measure for the facts of the universe, and the laws of nature come to be revealed and interpreted by nature's own organ of the human mind.

Besides science, we have other forms of this inner relation between the mind and the universe, such as poetry, music, art and religion. The human spirit is not a pathetic wandering phantom of the universe, but meets with spiritual hospitality and response everywhere. Our deepest thoughts and emotions and endeavours are but responses to stimuli which come to us, not from an alien but from an essentially friendly and kindred universe.

So far from the cosmic status of life and mind being degraded by the newer astronomy and physics, I would suggest an alternative interpretation of the facts, more in accord with the trend of evolutionary science. We have seen a macroscopic universe born or revealed to consciousness out of a prior microscopic order of a very different character. Are we not, in the emergence of life and mind, witnessing the birth or revelation of a new world out of the macroscopic physical universe.

Greatest Event in History. I suggest that at the present epoch of the cosmic process we are the spectators of what is perhaps the greatest event in the immeasurable history of our universe, and that we must interpret the present phase of the universe as a mother and child universe, still joined together by a placenta which science in its divorce from philosophy, has hitherto failed to unravel.

Piecing together these clues and conclusions, we arrive at a world picture fuller of mystery than ever. In a way it is closer to common sense and kinder to human nature than was the science of the nineteenth century. Materialism has practically disappeared, and the despotic rule of necessity has been greatly relaxed. In ever varying degree the universe is organic and holistic through and through. Not only organic concepts, but also and even more so, psychological concepts are becoming necessary to elucidate the facts of science.

And while the purely human concepts such as emotion and value, purpose and will, do not apply in the natural sciences, they retain their unimpaired force in the human sciences. The ancient spiritual goods and heirlooms of our race need not be ruthlessly scrapped. The great values and ideals retain their unfading glory and derive new interest and force from a cosmic setting. But in other respects it is a strange new universe, impalpable, immaterial, consisting not of material or stuff, but of organisation, of patterns or wholes which are unceasingly being woven to more complex or to simpler designs.

Offspring of the Stars. In the large it appears to be a decaying, simplifying universe which attained to its perfection or organisation in the far distant past and is now regressing to simpler forms—perhaps for good, perhaps only to restart another cycle of organisation. But inside this cosmic process of decline we notice a smaller but far more significant movement—a streaming, protoplasmic tendency; an embryonic infant world emerging, throbbing with passionate life, and striving towards rational and spiritual self-realisation.

We see the mysterious creative rise of the higher out of the lower, the more from the less, the picture within its framework, the spiritual kernel inside the phenomenal integuments of the universe. Instead of the animistic or the mechanistic, or the mathematical universe, we see the genetic, organic, holistic universe in which the decline of the earlier physical patterns provides the opportunity for the emergence of the more advanced, vital and rational patterns.

In this holistic universe man is in very truth the offspring of the stars. The world consists not only of electrons and radiations, but also of souls and aspirations. Beauty and holiness are as much aspects of nature as energy and entropy. Thus "in eternal lines to time it grows," an adequate world view would find them all in their proper context in the framework of the whole. And evolution is, perhaps, the only way of approach to the framing of a consistent world-picture which would do justice to the immensity, the profundity and the unutterable mystery of the universe.

Such a vague outline is the world-picture to which science seems to me to be pointing. We may not all agree with my rendering of it, which indeed does not claim to be more than a mere sketch.

And even if it were generally accepted, we have still to bear in mind that the world picture of tomorrow will in all probability be very different from any which could be sketched to-day.

H.R.H., the Prince of Wales, scored heavily in prize awards at the recent exhibition at Victoria. Entered only in the short-horn cattle class, the "E.P." Ranch, at High River, Alberta, captured the grand champion pennant and reserve senior champion cow, junior champion cow, and additional firsts, one second, three thirds, and a fourth, to make almost a clean sweep of the class in which the cattle competed.

"DON'T KISS THE BABY."

A Visiting Medical Officer's Campaign.

Dr. Charles Craster, public health officer of Newark, New Jersey, the city which claimed last year to be the healthiest city in the whole of America, has arrived at Southampton. He has come to England to lead a campaign against kissing.

"Ninety per cent. of diseases enter the human body through the mouth," he said in an interview. "Therefore it follows that kissing must be ruled out as a very dangerous practice. Children contract such diseases as measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and whooping-cough very easily by kissing each other or by being kissed by adults."

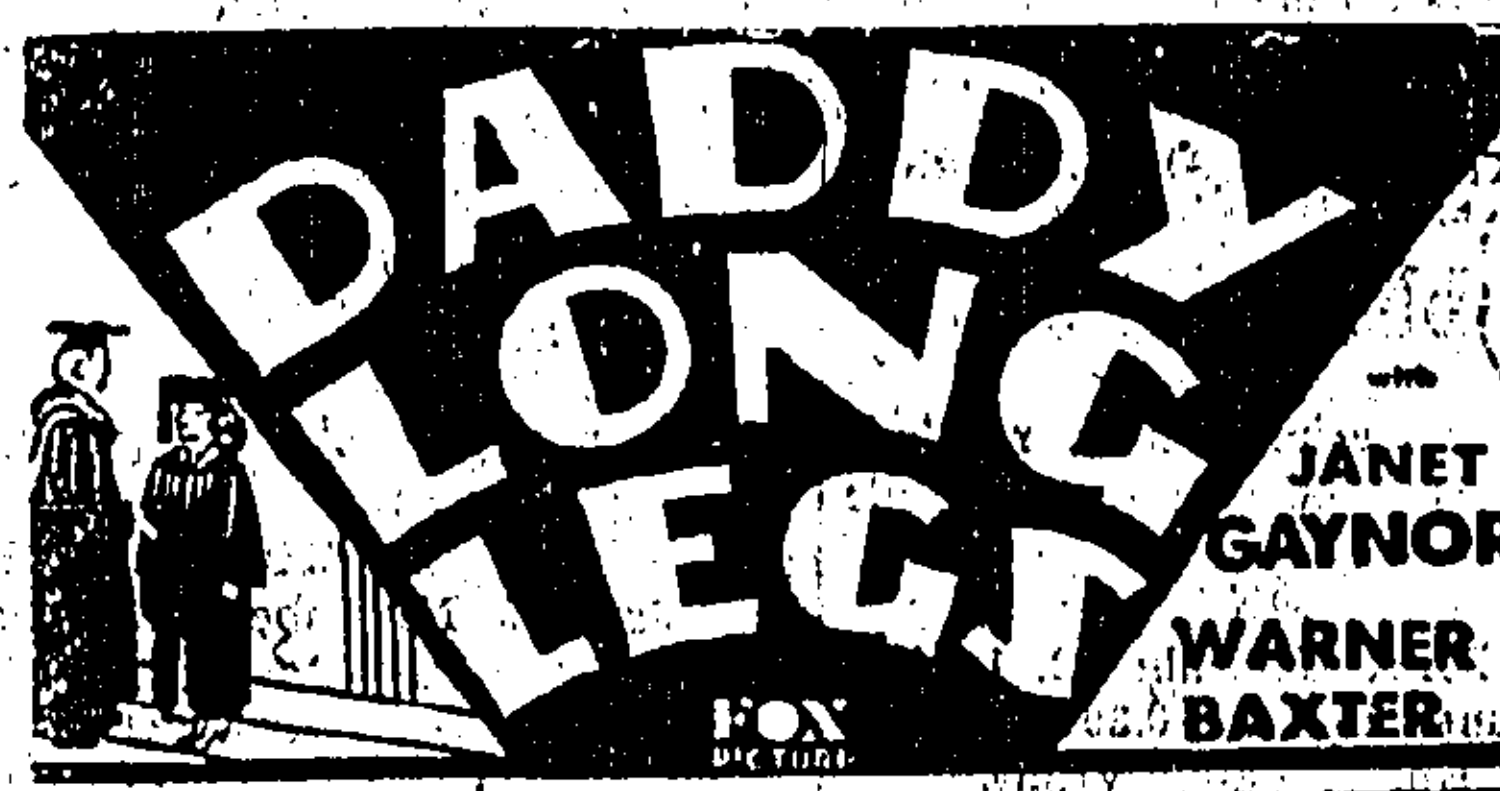

"In my home city every baby is presented with a bib by the health department inscribed with the words 'Don't kiss me; I don't want to be sick.'"

"A certain amount of kissing among adults may be unavoidable, but colds, influenza, pneumonia, and certain forms of paralysis are very easily contracted from kissing."

"Why women who go out to afternoon teas want to kiss each other when they arrive and when they leave passes my comprehension."

Dr. Craster said he was willing to meet in public debate Dr. Josiah Oldfield, of London, who recently declared that kissing was not injurious.

COMING SOON TO THE KING'S.

WHERE RAZOR BLADES GO.

The new Waldorf-Astoria will be thought of fondly for many a moon by wandering male residents who have the good fortune to stay there after its completion. For the palatial hotel seems not to have missed a trick when it comes to the task of making clients feel at home—and comfortable at the same time.

The latest nerve-saving device which has been installed solves the interminable problem of what to do with used razor blades. In every bathroom wall there will be a tiny slit, and all one has to do is step up to it, drop the blade and whistle.

The blade will fall to the bottom of a wall shaft about five feet deep and two feet wide. The management has figured out that if a man puts a blade in the slit every day for forty years there'll still be room for more.

It's like dropping a letter in a mail chute with which all office buildings are equipped. But there's no comeback.—N.A.N.A.

WANDERING IN THE WILD.

Child Lives For Six Days On Grass.

Sydney, Sept. 6.
The amazing stamina of a four-year-old boy, Jimmy Shields, who walked into a camp at Hillston, 45 miles from his home, with his clothes torn to ribbons, and asked for "Mummy" and "Daddy," is arousing wonder here.
The child left his home on August 31, and since then has been wandering aimlessly through the tall spear grass country living on crow foot (a clover-like grass).

BRIDE IN TEARS.

Best Man Who Forgot Certificate.

A wedding at Ashington, Northumberland, had to be postponed because the best man forgot to bring the certificate.
The bride, in tears, was immediately taken home, and the men had to comfort the women relatives, who broke down and cried hysterically.

READING (ENG.) TO READING (PENN.)

Major F. J. Sainsbury, Mayor of Reading, left Southampton recently in the White Star liner Olympic on his way to Reading (Penn.) to convey the greetings of the English town to its American namesake. Major Sainsbury is the bearer of a clock made, it is stated, out of oak from St. George's Chapel, Windsor, as a gift from Rotarians in the biscuit town to their fellows in America.

Are Socialists accepting every consequence of the Machine Age, even the obliteration of the best of the English heritage, as usually a Gradgrind once accepted naked children crawling in the galleries of mines?—Mr. H. M. Tomlinson.

A CHILD "DIES" TWICE.

Portsmouth, Sept. 9.
The remarkable case of a child who collapsed under an anaesthetic for a minor operation, was technically dead for forty minutes, and was then revived to live another twelve hours, was explained this afternoon to the Portsmouth City Coroner (Sir Thomas Bramsdon).

The inquiry was into the death of Edward William Cook, the seven-year-old son of William Albert Cook, an able seaman, of Monmouth Road, North End.

Dr. R. C. MacPherson, medical superintendent at St. Mary's Hospital, said the child ceased to breathe under the anaesthetic. Artificial respiration and restoratives failing, he decided to open the walls of the abdomen and diaphragm and massage the heart.

After a few minutes the heart began to pulsate rapidly and strongly, respiration was resumed, and the breathing became regular. The child recovered sufficiently to be removed from the operating theatre to the ward, where he died twelve hours later from status lymphaticus, accelerated by administration of the anaesthetic and shock.

The child was actually dead forty minutes before he revived, the doctor said, and he believed he recovered sufficiently to recognise his mother.
Death by misadventure was the verdict.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

French General's Fate.

Paris, September 6.
Gen. Jacquemot, a member of the Superior Council of War, died last night as the result of having been struck by lightning during the army manoeuvres now taking place in the Grenoble region.
Gen. Jacquemot was one of the most eminent of French soldiers. In 1926 he was commander of the Fourth Army Corps, after having been in 1925 Principal Secretary at the Ministry of War. In 1923 he was commander-in-chief of the Rhineland Army. On reaching this post he was made a member of the Superior Council of War. He held, among many other decorations, the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honour.

TURKISH GIRLS' NEW AMBITION.

So many Turkish girls have recently shown a desire to go to sea as captains and engineers that the Merchant Marine School at Stamboul has decided to open a branch for women aspirants. The first students will be enrolled this year.

Society to-day consists of a number of widely-scattered ostriches which, with their heads buried in a patch of sand, are exclaiming in a muffled tone that theirs is the only patch of sand which it is really worth while for anybody to bury their heads in.—Lord Eustace Percy.

AMERICAN DIAMOND LINE.

Sale To Black Diamond Corporation Approved.

Terms and conditions of the contract covering the sale of the American Diamond Lines to the Black Diamond Steamship Corporation have been approved by the U.S. Shipping Board. The sale is to be made in consideration of the payment of $332,000 provided that the conditions set forth in a proposed ocean mail contract covering the route served by the line are fulfilled. These include the construction of five 16-knot steamers during a ten-year period, and the reconstruction of five of the present steamers to give them speeds of 13 knots. In the event of these improvements not being effected the sale price will be at the rate of over $5 a ton instead of $3 a ton. (Continued in next column.)

CONSIGNEES' NOTICE.
THE BEN LINE STEAMERS, LIMITED.
From MIDDLESBRO' ANTWERP, LONDON STRAITS AND MANILA.

The Steamship "BENRINNES"
Consignees of cargo are hereby informed that all goods are being loaded at their risk into the hazardous and/or extra hazardous Godowns of The Hong Kong & Kowloon Wharf and Godown Co., Ltd. whence and/or from the wharves delivery may be obtained. No claims will be admitted after the Goods have left the Godowns, and all Goods remaining undelivered after the 2nd November, will be subject to rent.

All claims against the steamer must be presented to the Underwriter on or before the 16th November, or they will not be recognized.
All broken, chipped, and damaged Goods are to be left in the Godowns, where they will be examined on the 31st October, at 10 a.m. by Messrs. Goddard & Douglas.
No Fire Insurance has been effected.
Bills of Lading will be countersigned by G.B.E. LIVINGSTON & CO., LTD. Agents, Hong Kong, 26th October, 1931.

The line operates 12 typical 10-knot cargo vessels, which have an aggregate tonnage of 102,165 dead weight. Under the contract of sale the owner will be required to make not less than 72 round voyages a year; of which 24 will be semi-monthly sailings from New York to Rotterdam, 24 will be semi-monthly sailings from New York to Antwerp, and the balance will be semi-monthly sailings from North Atlantic ports of the United States other than New York to the foreign ports named.

Delivery of the vessels will be commenced after matters affecting the ocean mail contract covering the service have been settled.

WITHOUT PROPELLER OR RUDDER.

Russian Inventor's Rocket Ship.

A boat faster than any hitherto built without a screw propeller, paddle, or wheel, or any kind of rudder, and more economical to run than any other because of greater engine efficiency. Such is the expectation of an inventor whom I visited recently in his workshop at the back of a garage in Holland Park Avenue, Kensington, London, writes Comdr. H. M. Daniel in the Daily Mail.
Ordinarily I should have been prone to dismiss the tale of such a remarkable craft as a dreamer's fantasy; but the stumpy, bearded figure before me was Captain B. Chernikoff, a Russian, already world famous as the inventor of what is probably the best ship's log ever produced.

He was in deadly earnest, and showed me the model engine on which he is experimenting, and with which I hope to do a trial trip in a 23 ft. boat before long. Captain Chernikoff is confident that his principle will ultimately be applicable to every sort of boat, from a dinghy to an ocean liner, with advantages in fuel consumption.

"Ploughing Virgin Soil."
He took ten years to perfect his log, and he has already spent two years on his novel engine. The results of his work have encouraged him. I found mechanics stiffening the engine against vibration, which has proved excessive in a preliminary trial and there is still much research to be done.

Captain Chernikoff has little to guide him, for he is ploughing virgin soil. His propulsive apparatus might be described as a submarine rocket, driving the boat ahead by the ejection of gas through the stern. To reverse the boat the gas is emitted forward. To alter course the gas is deflected, thus changing direction without any friction such as is caused by the use of a rudder.

The gas on which the action of the "rocket" depends is provided by exploding a succession of petrol vapour charges from a chamber into which they have been pumped by any suitable standard engine. The explosive mixture may be ignited by a sparking plug or on the Diesel principle using the temperature of high compression to achieve spontaneous combustion.

R. A. FIRING PRACTICE.

Firing will be carried out as under during week ending November 7:—

November 2, 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. from Lyemun—Area, Cape Collinson and High Junk Bay.
November 4, 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. from Lyemun—Area as above.
November 6, 10 a.m. from Stonecutters—Area, west of Stonecutters and north of Kau-I-chau.

OCEAN PHONE CALL FROM A LUNCHEON.

Shipping Exhibition.

An innovation in the way of Atlantic 'phone talks was established on September 10 at the inaugural luncheon of the Shipping, Engineering, and Machinery Exhibition at Olympia, when the president, Lord Wester Wemyss, established communication with the captains of the Empress of Britain and the Homeric.

The ensuing conversations were amplified by means of loud speakers, and every word spoken was clearly heard by all the 400 guests.
Message of greeting were exchanged.

The exhibition, the twenty-fifth of its kind, was opened by Sir Austen Chamberlain, who was fulfilling his first public engagement
as First Lord of the Admiralty
under the new National Government.

Sir Austen said that the Government in general and the Board of Admiralty in particular had deep interest and sympathy for this great exhibition.

The exhibitors had again demonstrated that British enterprise, in the trades here represented retained its supremacy and offered to the world a lesson of what was being done and what could be accomplished in this country to-day.

At the luncheon Sir Austen said:
"Our industry is sound at heart.
But we cannot hope in the days to come to take our old place in foreign markets.

There is room, however, for British industry still, and when it has adapted itself to the new circumstances of the present time, it will hold its own in spite of the stern competition to which it is now subjected."

There are over 300 exhibitors—a record—at the exhibition. Although, as is natural, there is a great wealth of technical equipment, there is also much to interest
the average layman. One exhibit of popular interest is a series of ships' models representing famous vessels and 300 years of progress in British shipbuilding.

RIVIERA MUTINY.

Chinese Crew of a Yacht.

Paris, September 11.
According to a telegram from Nice, the Chinese crew on board the yacht of Mr. Gibson Farnestock, a wealthy New York man, who spends
most of his time in France,

mutinied yesterday in Antibes Harbour.

As several of the officers were seriously menaced the police were called in and eventually succeeded in calming the mutineers. The crew's action was attributed to their having been punished for overstaying shore leave.—Central News.

TALKIE TALKS

Diane

Thomas Meighan, a favourite of the old days returns to the talking screen in "Young Sinners." He last appeared in "The Racket"—and this is his second Talkie, after an absence of two years in his marvellous home in Florida. Meighan has accumulated a fortune in real estate, and is also one of the highest paid artists on the screen. I remember him coming to London
over twenty years ago with his wife Francis Ring in "The College Widow." This good looking Irish-American will not be forgotten by old-time movie fans. In this play Hardie Albright who is a newcomer to the films, plays the part he did on Broadway. Dorothy Jordan,

Dorothy Jordan.

lent by M.G.M., also hails from the stage, and you may remember
years ago a famous imitator in vauedeville, Cecilia Loftus. She is now playing character parts. James Kirkwood who was good in "The Devil's Holiday," gives much support to the cast. The Director John Blystone has many successes to his credit. The moral of the story is that there should be more comradeship between parents and children. We see what happens to irresponsible youth when left to its own devices, and the result of assisting them to solve the problems of life. Elmer Harris who wrote the play gives us the romance of a young boy spoiled by his father,
who found friendship, love and self-respect in the rugged life in the North Woods. It is a sparkling comedy-drama of youth and its yearnings. Go along just to see Thomas Meighan
and give the old-timer a big hand.
(Central)

John Boles, who made his first appearance on the screen with Gloria Swanson in the ill-fated
"Loves of Sunya" found his best work when the Talkies came and he had a chance to let us hear his beautiful voice. In "The Desert Song" and "Rio Rita" he made good,
but now we shall see him in a technical film, "The Song of the West." Joe E. Brown, gives a tragic-comic performance. This man with the rubber-face is tremendously popular in the States. There is a large cast; and the music is delightful. (Queen's)

Columbia has turned out a pleasantly sentimental picture in "The Melody Maker." They star Marceline Day and Buster Collier, but

Wm. Collier, Junior.

John Sainpolis is outstanding.
There is a pretty song "Broken Dreams," and some technical sequences. Central is giving two big features. Barbara Stanwyck who is rated very high by critics appears in "Mexicali Rose." We have only had her here in one
"flop," "The Sign on the Door," but
she has done grand work since then.
I look forward to seeing her.
(Central)

"An American Tragedy" by Theodore Dreiser, with Phillips Holmes and Sylvia Sydney. You will most likely say—"A great film," but whether you enjoy it is another matter.
Beautiful.

The photography is beautiful, and
the cast splendid. Frances Dee, Irving Pichel and Charles Middie-

ton are deserving of special mention. Holmes as Clyde Griffiths the boy who murders his sweetheart in order to marry a rich girl is NOT the best work of this clever actor.
If he is supposed to be unintelligent, they should not have chosen
him, his sensitive handsome face
makes us believe in his innocence,
and he, to my mind, belies the character of Clyde, who was not swept to his fate by passion
he could not control, but who calculated every move
in order to better his position.
Sylvia Sydney is touching and sincere.

The film is directed with care,
but it is NOT the great picture we film fans expected, as von Sternberg hardly does more than capture the outline of the plot. I would not miss seeing it again for it is certainly dramatic and well acted.
(King's)

A conventional Western drama
given the power of speech and enlivened by stampedes of bellowing
cattle is the Paramount release—
"The Conquering Horde." It is a good picture of its type, carrying us back to the bad old days following the Civil War. You will like Richard Arlen and Fay Wray, also

Fay Wray.

Claud Gillingwater. By way of excitement the cattle rip and roar
through the main street of the town, plenty of noise in the saloon; racketeers who grabbed
the land by the most unfair
methods added to love and romance in the saddle and you have all the excitement you want for one evening. (King's)

If you liked "Tom Sawyer" you will like "Huckleberry Finn" which has been done as a companion piece. Junior Durkin steals the picture from the highly-paid Jackie Coogan (after seeing him in the Talkies I think he should stay at College). Jackie Seale, also a much over-rated boy actor and the precocious Mitzl Green who should stick to imitations in vaudeville,
are in this film; which may appeal to the youngsters. Mark Twain's story is considerably altered, but the characters and a few episodes
remain the same, but Junior Durkin
certainly gives a most creditable performance. (King's)

I hear that "Viennese Nights"
with the most delightful music by Sigmund Romberg and a perfect
cast of singers, which includes Walter Pidgeon, Alexander Grey
and Vivienne Segal will shortly come to the Queen's Theatre. It is an operetta of old Vienna, and by no means must you miss it! Also due soon at the same theatre is Norma Shearer in "Stran—may Kiss". It is a piece after her own

Norma Shearer.

heart, of screen life in 1931, and
is modern to say the least of it.
One of the biggest hits of the year,
Gloria Swanson in "Indiscreet" is due in November. (Queen's)

"Confessions of a Co-ed" showing us the type of life American authors of "sex stuff" would have us believe goes on in the American Colleges. Anyhow, Sylvia Sydney and young Phillips Holmes try their best to make it a success. "The Magnificent Lie," Ruth Chatterton's

latest, the sensation of sensations,
"Bad Girl," introducing a new film
idol, James Dunn aided by pretty little Sally Eilers. In this play directed by the man who made
"Seventh Heaven," Frank Borzage
has given us the best thing he has ever done, critics acclaim it everywhere. After two "flops" Maurice Chevalier returns in "The Smiling Lieutenant" which we know as
"The Waltz Dream"; we will see the real fascinating Maurice, with Claudette Colbert as the young violinist and Miriam Hopkins as the Princess. This will pack the King's Theatre, and so will Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in Mary Pickford's old favourite, "Daddy Long-legs".

"Mother's Millions" with May Robson playing the part she has done for years on the stage is a real family picture. "Seed" is one of the season's hits with John Boles surprising us by his acting ability. Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin in "Up for Murder" will all appear in turn at the Central, now that they have signed to release R.K.O. Pathe pictures. With the super pictures now being turned out by Universal, the Central will cater well for a critical public.

A modern submarine as menacing a vessel as one could wish to see is the centre of interest in
"The Seas Beneath," starring George O'Brien in the role of a Naval Officer. A tremendous cast comprises two Britons who play
the parts of German submarine
officers, John Loder and Henry Victor. Loder was a prisoner of war in Germany, afterwards stayed in that country and married a German girl. Marion Lessing is an American girl educated in Wien
and Germany; speaking German fluently, she was given this chance.
She has appeared on the stage. Mona Maris, the pretty little Argentine actress, was

George O'Brien.

also sent to the Continent
for a finishing course. Do you remember an old favourite on the vaudeville stage who has appeared in every country, known as "The Virginian Judge"—Walter C. Kelly? He has a bit in this, his first Talkie. Warren Hymen, Walter McGrail, and others who made "Men without Women" a success, are in the cast, and the same director, John Ford. There are many dramatic moments, including the sinking of a ship, and showing us life in a submarine
during the Great War, certainly highly exciting. (King's)

With this attraction will be added the Farren Troupe, headed by Neil and Joe. A little over two years ago they appeared here at the Hong Kong and Repulse Bay Hotels. They were much liked then, but after breaking all records
in Shanghai, one year at the Majestic and the same at the Candorome, it goes without question that they are very much improved. Joe has trained twelve girls, who could hold their own with the Tiller Girls. Also in the Company will be a trio of singers.
Their turn will run about forty minutes at the King's. What a treat for this city! Neil wears the most gorgeous creations, and how their dancing is delightful to watch, they have all the latest American songs, and dances, and should be nothing short of a sensation here. They are scheduled to start next Tuesday, November 3,
and it is hoped they will stay for twelve days. They have an enormous repertoire of songs, and are the sort of turn one wants to see again and again. It is no use to advise you going, because no one would be so unwise as not to see them, and enjoy the turn over which Shanghai raves. (King's)

I have already written in high praise of "Disraeli", in which,

Joan Bennett.

George Arliss gives a masterful performance, and the whole cast

gives worthy support. The story, or history of Britain's achievement
in regards to the purchase of the shares in the Suez Canal, need not be mentioned again. Only be sure and see it. It is interesting from start to finish, and critics rate it
at 100 per cent. (Queen's)

Hollywood Gossip.

Rumour has it that "The Grand Hotel" will be done by Greta Garbo, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford
and John Gilbert. Was there ever such a cast? Edmund Lowe has been overworked with the result that he is suffering from a nervous breakdown. Colin Clive of "Journey's End" fame has returned to Hollywood to make another picture. They say that Universal did not come through with the contract
for John Mack Brown, so he stays with M.G.M. Also Nils Asther has again quarrelled with the same Studio, and is not working yet.
His wife, Vivian Duncan, has returned from Europe with a baby daughter, and will return to the famous "Duncan Sisters Act."

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

The Colony's Budget for 1932 was fully debated at the meeting of the Legislative Council held on October 22, when Unofficial Members exhaustively analysed the Estimates.
Argument was principally concentrated on the question of sterling salaries of the Civil Service. The Hon. Mr. C.
Gordon Mackle moved an amendment to reduce the salaries appropriation by effecting a ten per cent. reduction in salaries, to balance the abandonment of the exchange compensation. When the resolution was put to the vote in Committee it was lost, by 9 votes to 7.

His Excellency the Governor, in his speech, pleaded that Civil Servants had made sufficient sacrifices, which, he was afraid, were not appreciated. His Excellency and the Colonial Secretary, were generally sympathetic or other points raised, but the plea was put forward that present financial conditions prevented much development work. It was mentioned, however, that the new Government Civil Hospital will be built on a site in Pokfulam Road, and the new Infectious Diseases Hospital on Green Island.

A detailed account is chronicled in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

A dividend of $506.10 was an outstanding feature of the Tenth Extra race meeting held at Happy Valley on October 24. This handsome dividend was paid by Good Day ridden by Mr. Benham in the Sixth race. Results of most of the races were a little surprising and it was altogether a good day for backers. Valorous, ridden by Mr.
S. N. Fan, occupied first place in the Sixth New Aggregate Stakes, by six lengths from King's Counsel. The OVERLAND CHINA MAIL contains a full report of the meeting.

On October 25, the congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, bade farewell to the Rev. E. A. Armstrong, B.A., Assistant Chaplain, since 1929. He preached his farewell sermon in the morning, and at the conclusion of the evening service a social hour was held in the Church Hall, when speakers eulogised the good work that had been done by the departing padre. He was the recipient of two presentations, one from the Church Council and the other from the St. Andrew's Troop of boy scouts. In reply, Mr.
Armstrong said he had never been happier in all his life than at St. Andrew's. A detailed report is furnished in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

During the week, a Pole and Persian, who described himself as a music hall artiste, were arrested, after performing a sleight-of-hand trick at a pawnshop in the Eastern district. It was alleged that by means of that trick, they stole a gold finger ring valued at $600, but which had been pawned for only $400. A full story is contained in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

A disastrous fire broke out in Yaumati on the afternoon of October 27, the top floors of two houses being severely burned, whilst the first, second and third floors were badly gutted. A quantity of Chinese medicine, valued at $4,000 was incinerated, whilst the total damage is estimated at $15,000. A detailed account is furnished in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Judgment for plaintiff, with $100 damages and costs
was given by the Police Judge in the Summary Court on October 28, in the action for alleged slander uttered in Middle Road, Kowloon by Miss Gertrude Staveland, of the Airlie Hotel, on August 16, the plaintiff being Mrs. Rose Irene Remedios, of 5, Julia Avenue Homantin, who claimed $1,000 as damages. His Lordship's finding is fully chronicled in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Arguments in the Appeal.

QUESTION OF COMMISSION.

Replying to Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., for the appellants, defendants in the Sik Yue Club gambling case appeal, in the Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon, Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy, Assistant Attorney-General, for the respondent, Chinese constable Choi Nam, referred to the question of commission, saying that the Magistrate (Mr. E. H. Williams) had found that commission was taken and he had ample evidence on which to come to that finding. It was not for the Magistrate to ascertain how that commission was applied. He said it could not be read into the Magistrate's judgment that he considered the putting of money in the box might have been voluntary.

The Police raid occurred at two o'clock in the morning, well after midnight, when the supper was over and done with. It was not likely there would be another supper but the money was still in the box.

The Police Judge pointed out that it might not have been paid for then and Mr. Jenkin remarked the evidence was it would not be paid for until later.

Mr. Fitzroy referred to the Police evidence which was to the effect that it was compulsory for members to pay money out of their winnings, and payments were not voluntary. There was the clearest evidence by the Crown that commission was being compulsorily taken out of winnings. The evidence was such that the Magistrate was fully justified in believing the Police story and coming to the finding he did.

The hearing was adjourned until Monday at ten o'clock.

MEASURING.

Difficulties That Beset Owner-Driver.

One of the greatest difficulties that the owner driver who does his own adjustments has to face is his inability to think in thousandths parts of an inch. He is aware that four-thousandths are twice as many as two and he realises that a "thou," as engineers call it, is a very small measurement. But he cannot visualise it as a concrete thing in the manner in which he can conjure up a mental picture of a pound, an inch, a pint or a mile.

When a manufacturer mentions, in his instruction book, that the inlet valves must be given .003in. clearance he means just what he says, although many drivers appear to think that he is merely trying to indicate that the adjustment is a close one.

Could not Be Worse. It is quite common for novices to use a visiting card as a gauge when making adjustments. A worse practice it is difficult to imagine. I measured, with a micrometer, a dozen visiting cards and found that the thickest, scaled .019in. and the thin-

AFTERMATH OF SETTLEMENT.

Profit Taking After Big Rise.

QUIET MARKET.

The official summary issued by the Stock Exchange to-day states: The market opened somewhat quiet this morning, partly due to profit taking after the substantial rise since the Settlement.

Wharves changed hands at $154. Providents (old) were in demand at $5.60, and also the new shares at $2½.

Hotels (old) were on offer at $16, and the new shares, after being done at $15, closed in demand at this quotation.

Lands, after being done at $84¼ former rate, but sellers were asking and $84½, closed in demand at the $84¼.

Humphreys (old) were wanted at $18¾, and the new shares were also in request at $18¾.

Trams were offering at $23. Star Ferries were wanted at $91. I.K. Electric were in demand at $77¼.

Telephones (part paid) were done at $20¼. Canton Ice were on sale at $6.90.

Cements (combined) were the medium of sales at $19.90, but at the close there were buyers bidding $20¼.

Ropes were wanted at $18. Dairy Farms were in request at $30¼.

Watsons were in demand at $16. Constructions (old) were wanted at $5.80, and the new shares were also in request at $1.40.

Government Loan was in demand at $5 per cent. premium.

nest .006in. The majority were between ten and thirteen thousandths thick.

On no account use card or paper for gauging, as it is compressible: one can easily dent it with one's thumb-nail, and therefore accuracy is impossible. The correct instrument for gauging clearances is a feeler gauge.

The usual engineer's "feeler," which can be bought for as little as half-a-crown, and need never cost more than 3s. 6d., is provided with nine accurate steel blades. Their thicknesses are 1½, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, and 15 thousandths parts of an inch.

Avoid Forcing. Suppose that you want to adjust the tappets to give a .004in. clearance. Turn the tappet adjuster until the appropriate feeler just slides freely between the valve stem and tappet top and then the clearance will be correct.

Avoid forcing the feeler in between the two parts or you will damage it and make your result inaccurate. Should you require some odd dimension, such as .005in., it can be obtained by laying the .002in. blade on top of the .003in. blade and using the pair together.

It is, however, necessary to emphasise that both the measuring instrument and the parts to be gauged must be scrupulously clean and that, after use, the feelers must be rubbed over with an oily rag, as their highly finished surfaces are particularly susceptible to rust.

UNLAWFUL POSSESSION.

Weapons Only Fit for A Museum.

JUNK MASTER FINED.

(Central Police Court.)

An executioner's sword of the type used by Chinese, three unserviceable rifles, a quantity of dynamite, some detonators, and several rounds of ammunition, were exhibits in the case in which Ho Wing-see, master of a large junk, was charged to-day with unlawful possession, without a permit.

Defendant pleaded guilty. Defendant's junk was raided in Aberdeen on October 28. The arms and ammunition were discovered in a hold. The sword and dynamite were found in the after section of the junk.

Defendant's junk, plied between Young Kong and Hong Kong, and had been registered at Cheung Chau. Its licence had been removed at Aberdeen. Defendant had stated all along that the arms had been left to him by his grandfather. Defendant's father was also on the junk, because his (the father's) junk had been captured by pirates.

Remarking that the weapons were fit only for a museum, his Worship imposed fines totalling $25, and ordered confiscation.

Triumph for the Democracy. The Daily Telegraph describes the result as a triumph for free democracy, which has given to the cause of sane and sound government a victory without parallel in the history of any country.

A Free Hand. The Morning Post says it is no party verdict, but is national in scope and intention. It grants handsomely the Prime Minister's request for a free hand and agrees to accept such fiscal measures as the Government may find necessary to improve industry and agriculture, and redress the trade balance.

M.G. Doubtful. The Manchester Guardian refuses to accept at face value the declarations of the leaders that they will regard it as a national and not a party victory. The extraordinary collapse of Labour, it adds, overshadows the situation.

British Wireless Service. The Morning Post says it is no party verdict, but is national in scope and intention. It grants handsomely the Prime Minister's request for a free hand and agrees to accept such fiscal measures as the Government may find necessary to improve industry and agriculture, and redress the trade balance.
